Overview

Your Financials Tell a Story

How do you develop a budget that reflects planning and foresight?

When and how should you prepare for a financial audit?

What are funders looking at when they review your financials?

What is Financial Storytelling?

Financial storytelling for nonprofits involves presenting their financial information in a way that tells a compelling story. This can help donors, stakeholders, and supporters better understand how their contributions are being used and the impact their support is having on the organization's mission.

By using data and metrics to demonstrate success and progress, nonprofits can build trust and transparency with their audience.
